ANDERSON AND WOLGAST MATCH

(By Harry A. Williams, in the Lo-Augeles Times.)

Ad. Wolgast vs. Bud Anderson at Vernon, on March 17, meaning St. Patrick's day

This is merely a possibility, but as strong betting personality, it should Bud Anderson, through his manager, Dick Donald, claims to have $10,000 with which to back himself against Wolgast. Promoter McCarey is willing to stage the match providing that Wolgast will be at all reacomplife in his terms.

The large sum mentioned by Messes. Anderson and Donald appears to be real money. Five thouand dollars of it will be put up by Donald, and the remaining $5000 will be provided by the rather sporty citizens of Medford.

Court Hall, in fact, has been an. family. thorized by the Medford bunch to back Anderson against Wolgast for ranch east of Medford, visited rela-$5000 and put up the entire $10,000 lives at the Debenger Gap ranch last if necessary. But the latter contri- Saturday and Sunday. bution to the rood will be unnecessary as Anderson and Donald have a few DUITMINES.

find Means Business

These Medford people seem to be made of money. Upon their arrival here for the Anderson-Trott bout, they were greeted with a slight degree of skepticism. It is coin that silenced the Trott supporters. And, incidentally, they made one maguaficent clean-up.

Therefore when the population of Medford mentions large sures, said remarks are to be taken seriously.

youngest managers in the business is one of the shrewdest. When Donald suggested such a match with a $5000 side bet embellishment, the astute Levy, manager of Rivers, tore the empyrenn and raved about $10,-000 wagers and such like. That was before Donald had received assurances of practically unlimited backing from the Medford bunch. Thus every respect. During the evening the thing, by the simple process of elimination, narrows down to Wolgast. Because of his speculative tendencies. Ad was expected to grab that $10,000 bait, hook, sinker and line.

Wolgast Sidesteps

But Wolgast seems a bit inclined to sidestep the issue. In a disputch requoted as follows:

Then he will be primed for a match with Rivers, Ritchie or myself."

In other words, Wolgast wants Bud to go and get a "rep." There was a time when Battling Nelson might have advised Ad to do the same thing.

The last time I wrote, Saturday evening, I was just getting ready to start with Rev. Mark C. Davis, for Sams Valley, and so will give an account of our trip to that famous valley. There was nothing of interest visible until we reached the Bybee bridge, except that we saw a few new houses dotting the large prairie, commonly called the desert, but when we reached the bridge we soon discovered that someone had been entring into the timbers to test their soundness. After crossing we began to see men busily engaged working in the orchards, and found that Mr. Washburn had his eider press in operation, found some digging pointees.

Passing on we found that there has been quite a quantity of fencing done along the route, but very little farming being done, in fact we found considerable snow on the ground, but the people seemed to be in good spirits and seemed to think that this year was going to be an exceptional good year for crops.

Sunday morning we went to Antioch shool house where Rev. Davis preached to a good sized audience and in the afternoon he preached again at Table Rock to a large andence for that section. ! understand that there is some talk of building a church there but the community changes so fast that it is Lard to tell what will be done. Returning home Sunday night ofter preaching we took the ear for Grants Pass via Medfords to consult Dr. Findley with regard to my eyes, but they were so much better he let me off on the 2:21 train. I found that the people were considerably elated over the prospect of a railroad to the coast. Mr. Ash, the man who bought the Allen place at Trail, commonly known as the Trail House, come out Sunday, spent the night with us, left his team here and went to Medford and from Tuesday morning.
